Varying receptivity to the gospel

The gospel is of inestimable worth. Jesus Christ is superior. And believers feel it. But unbelievers don't. The gospel is boring to some people. When Jesus is not enough for those who want wealth what should we remember? Matthew 13:1-9 remind us that the great power and value of the gospel can be unimpressive. It is not, certainly. But in the eyes of some it is weak and stupid. Let us remind each other of these verses. Let us remind each other that for his purposes, God may not open the eyes of unbelievers to see the matchless beauty. We are called not to create results but to cast the seed of the good news of great joy. Be faithful with the gospel and rest in him.
